WEEKLY REFLECTION

Peace be With You

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells us that the seed is His Word, and our hearts are the soil on which it falls. The question is not whether God is speaking, but whether we are ready to receive His Word and allow it to bear fruit.

As we prepare for our parish feast with the theme, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God," we are reminded that peacemakers are not born—they are formed. A heart hardened by anger, choked by resentment, or distracted by worldly concerns cannot bear the fruits of peace. Only a heart that is open to God's Word becomes rich soil where peace can grow.

When God's Word takes root in us, it transforms our thoughts, our words, and our actions. We become people who forgive instead of condemn, unite instead of divide, and heal instead of wound. This is the fruit that Jesus desires from each of us.

As we celebrate our parish feast, let us prepare our hearts to be good soil, so that God's Word may bear the fruit of peace in our families, our parish, and our community. Then, as true peacemakers, we will truly be called the children of God.

ORGANIZED BY THE ARCHDIOCESAN MENTAL HEALTH MINISTRY

Hidden Depression

Now you see it, now you don't

Depression doesn't always show.

Many people who struggle with depression don't always look sad, withdrawn, or hopeless. In fact, they may appear cheerful, successful, and put-together — all while silently battling deep emotional pain. This talk explores the often-overlooked reality of hidden depression, where strength and suffering coexist behind a confident exterior.

We'll discuss how to recognize subtle signs in ourselves and others, why high-functioning individuals may hide their distress, and what compassionate support can look like. The goal is to shed light on a silent struggle, break the stigma around mental health issues, and remind everyone that even those who seem "fine" may need care and understanding.
